NEW YORK AND HARRISON.

The Chicago News, which supports Cleveland, begins one of its New York dispatches in these significant lines: "If the election depends upon New York—and people generally concede that it does—Benjamin Harrison will be our next president. There seems scarcely room for a doubt that he will carry this state and democrats who have been about much consoling it."

The explanation to this condition of things is taken from the lips of Mr. W. D. Kerfoot, one of the old-time democrats of Chicago. He said: "A good many democrats are going to vote against Cleveland on account of the tariff; others are dissatisfied with the way he has distributed the offices. Everybody wanted an office, of course, and there were not enough to go around. Then, again, some of the appointments were bad and disgraced people who expected better things. The men who have always been the most active in the democratic party, at least a good many of them, are lying back in the year and doing nothing. Even if they vote for Cleveland, when the time comes, most of the newsmen will vote for Harrison and the 'republicans' are more united and enthusiastic than they have been for years."

Supporting Mr. Kerfoot in his estimate of the republican majority in New York, is Mr. H. K. Thurber, of New York. The News' correspondent furnishing news for a Cleveland paper, has this to say in regard to his interview with Mr. Thurber:

Mr. H. K. Thurber, for example, the head of the largest grocery house in the city, was enthusiastic for Cleveland in 1884 and gave $25,000 to the democratic national committee. I met him yesterday at the Chicago national bank and he told me he was putting in about half his time electioneering for Harrison, that he had spoken at a republican meeting every night this week and expected to speak almost every night from now until November 7.

"I thought you were a great Cleveland man," I said. He replied: "but I have quit. I like Cleveland, but he has repudiated his first letter of acceptance, has violated his pledges to the civil service reformers, has sold himself to the south, and I can't stand his free trade policy. Harrison will carry the state by 25,000 majority and will be elected. There will be a tidal wave in November like that of 1851."

These changes from democracy to Harrison and Morton are not isolated cases. They are but fair specimens of many thousands that are weekly taking place. The sentiment is abroad in the land that Harrison will be elected. The people believe it because it is a fact. No money forgers like that committed by the national democratic committee in 1880, or any other falsehood or fraud, will have any influence in the campaign. Protection and Harrison are the watch words of the campaign, and just as certain as that the sun will go down on the sixth of November, 1888, will the democratic party on that day go down to defeat.

ABOUT WOOLLEN GOODS.

One of the strongest of the many strange things that Mr. Cleveland has said on the tariff, is that the duty on any article increases its price or cost to the full extent of the duty imposed. "There are 4,000,000 farmers who produce 300,000,000 pounds of wool, an average of 75 pounds each; according to President Cleveland, they would lose just the present duty, 10 cents per pound, to the price of their wool, which would be $7.50 each. What would they gain?" The answer to this is one that every voter, especially the farmer, should clearly understand. Mr. Cleveland attempts to make a plea for cheaper woolen goods. The reader will remember that he claimed that the tariff on wool and woolens cost the people something like $37.50 per capita. Now look at the facts:

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE.

A Terrible Calamity at Valparaiso, in Chili.

SWEEPED BY A MIGHTY TORRENT.

A Reservoir Burst, Flooding the City, with Water and Destroying Every Thing in Its Way—A Thousand Lives Said to Have Been Lost.

VALPARAISO'S MISFORTUNE. New York, Sept. 27.—A dispatch to the Herald from Valparaiso, Chili, dated September 26, says: A fearful calamity occurred here on the 11th inst. An artificial pond, 230 feet above the level of the city, burst, flooding the valley. Yuzari and several streets were swept away in an irresistible torrent, sweeping every thing before it and bringing down rocks and trunks of trees with it. The stream came rushing through the street of San Juan de los Rios in a wave twelve feet high. Shops were deluged and the contents destroyed. Houses were swept away and their inhabitants drowned or bruised to death.

Fifty-seven lives were buried yesterday of persons killed by this disaster. The sum of $300,000 has been voted by the Congress in Santiago to relieve the sufferers. The new hospital wards have been opened to shelter the thousands. A man named Torres lost his house, his shop and its contents, his wife and four children. This is an extreme case, but it shows the nature of the calamity. The survivors, for days afterward, are impassable. No street-car can run, no coaches, through the ordinary thoroughfares. The fire companies, police, seamen from ships of war, custom house officers and soldiers are laboring today to remove the sand and debris in the streets. The work is the more difficult since the sewers are choked and in many cases have burst. Plaza Pinto, O Higgins street, Plaza Victoria, San Juan de los Rios, down to Plaza Victoria, all were flooded and still are impassable for vehicles.

The loss of the property will be probably a million dollars at least. A thousand lives were probably lost. People were rescued from the streets with fractured limbs, half drowned and otherwise injured. The people belonged to a brewer named Torres, who lived at the first corner there was a tidal wave flowing in from the sea.

PARANA, Sept. 17.—Advices from Valparaiso state that last week was one without parallel for disaster. A thousand lives were lost in the history of that port. Numbers of vessels were driven ashore, and in some cases their crews drowned or killed by being dashed against the rocks. The barkentine bark Estrella Du Sud was driven against the British bark Cambria, the former foundered and the latter went down in half an hour. With one exception, Captain Armstrong, of the Cambria, both of the crews, consisting of some thirty, were drowned.

THE INDIANA CAMPAIGN.

Mr. Blaine and Governor Hill to Talk to the Hostesses on the Western Tour. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 27.—The month of October will be one full of interest in this state as far as eminent speakers for both parties can contribute to that end. James C. Blaine, for the Republicans, will speak at Gosport on the 10th, Indianapolis on the 11th, Evansville on the 12th, and Terre Haute on the 13th. On the 14th and 15th he will be at the State Fair. Governor Hill, of New York, is to be a democrat on the occasion of his visit by the Lincoln League clubs of the State. A strong effort will be made to secure her acquittal. Her victims were suffocated by smothering from an incendiary fire kindled in their sleeping room. Mrs. Grett and her husband were found and killed of caring for them and had been shot down by the police, and hence she was arrested for the crime.

DICKINSON AT DETROIT.

The Postmaster-General, Republican President Cleveland.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 27.—The campaign in this city was opened last night by the Democracy with a big demonstration in honor of the visit of Postmaster-General Dickinson, General John C. Black, ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald and others. A procession was reviewed by the guests from the balcony of the Russell House, after which a mass-meeting was held in the Larned street rink, which was elaborately decorated.

Postmaster-General Dickinson presided at the meeting and made the principal speech. His remarks were mainly eulogistic of the life, character and services of President Cleveland. Said he: "The republic is a great country since he took his seat, his robust patriotism, his heart of a great system, has sent a vital current of healthfulness and honesty pulsing through all the arteries of the public service. A public office is a public trust has not, as used by him, been merely a smooth phrase, a catchword of the stump and caucus. Consistently squaring his official action by the spirit of the maxim and by a commandment he had made it a rule of conduct, practical, of everyday use to the public business, in every department and in the highways and byways of executive and administrative action."

Standing out against the horizon of the history of the age, one of the noblest figures in the life of the republic will be that of Grover Cleveland. It is not in vain that he was an unselfish American statesman and that he saved the people."

Speeches were also made by ex-Senator McDonald, Ex-Senator Charles Blair, Congressman Chapman, Tarney, Whiting and others.

HEAVY GALE ON THE COAST.

Three Vessels Reported Ashore Near Gloucester, Mass.—A Cattle Show Blown Down.

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—A heavy wind and rain-storm set in this section early yesterday morning. The wind gradually increased to a gale, wrecking telegraph and telephone wires in all directions and blowing down fences, trees, and signs. Over 500 vessels took refuge in the harbor, and the western State of Maine, for Portland, which started on her regular trip, was obliged to put back. In Salem trees were blown down in all parts of the city, and in Lynn a plate-glass window was blown in. At Peabody the Essex County estate survey, which is held in the valley, was flooded to the depth of a foot. Many structures were leveled. The poultry house was rent and the hundreds of cocks beneath it were shattered. Many valuable horses were thoroughly wetted and chilled. The stock was sent home at once. In neighboring cities streets were flooded, cellars filled and boats in the harbors blown from their moorings. At Gloucester and Rockport the gale was terrific and the rain was a deluge, converting the streets into rivers. The sea ran higher than was ever known before, and the spray was thrown hundreds of feet inland. The roof of the house of George Lotius was partly washed away, although the hotel stands 100 feet above high-water mark. It is believed that if the gale extended to the banks the fishing fleet must have suffered terribly.

A TOUGH YARN.

A Somewhat Incredible Story Telegraphed from Connecticut.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 27.—A freight train was crossing the Spillo bridge of the Consolidated railroad on the West Haven Meadows it was struck by a cyclone. The roof of a box car on which George Lotius, a workman, was standing, was lifted from the car and carried off in the meadows. As the roof was passing under the telegraph wires Lotius remained on it and held on to them. For a moment he clung to the wires midway between the poles. Then he worked himself hand over hand along the wires until he reached one of the poles, where he said to the ground. The roof of the car was carried forty rods and dropped. But for his presence of mind Lotius would undoubtedly have been killed.

Milton Weston at Liberty.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 27.—Milton Weston was released from the Western penitentiary yesterday morning. Governor Beaver signed the unconditional pardon recommended by the Board of Pardons. Mr. Weston said that the pardon was directly unexpected, as he had given up all hopes of receiving justice several months ago, after the Board of Pardons had refused to consider his case favorably. He said he had formed no plans for the future.
